

PPI Premiere Products Inc.

@ppipremiereproducts · Product/service

Shop on Website

ppipremiereproducts.com

Home About Instagram Twitter More

Liked Message Search

PPI Premiere Products Inc. May 17, 2019

It was great to have Carleigh Herbert back at the PPI booth for another 'larger than life' demo... Here's a detailed description of this great "Krampus" makeup she created.

This year at MONSTERPALOOZA, I wanted to bring the folklore devil of Krampus to life. My goal was for him to feel larger than life, demonic, yet still something that would blend into the world around him where he dwells: a dark, snowy forest. Because of my schedule on a current television show I was working on, I decided to take the challenge of using all generic foam pieces from RBFX Studio. His pieces included back of head/neck, face/neck, chest, ears, back, and hands. Along with using generic pieces, I decided to take the challenge of having four large horns coming out of his head. For the horns, I molded pre-existing horns, ran them in lightweight urethane, altered them, and had a fiberglass skull cap made for them to click into, fitting under the top of the head prosthetic. His eyes were goat like and bloodshot, and the teeth were small and subtle. To give the appearance he had been gnawing and grinding them down for awhile. Gerrit Hagen, who played the Krampus demon, is a talented stilt walker, so we decided to integrate that with everything. Between his stilts and horns, Krampus was officially 12 feet tall. The last pieces that came together before the application day was the costume and hair. The costume was made from scratch, laying burlap, leather, and other fabrics to pull everything together and customize where prosthetics were peeking out and cater to his walking movement. His hair piece was custom made and hand tied to flow down the horns. The prosthetics were glued down with Telesis 5 adhesive and Skin Illustrator alcohol paints were used for the paint job. Sand, rice paper, dark moss, olive tone, white, vein tone, capillary, and black were some of the colors used. My favorite palettes I pulled for this makeup were Necromania, Deathzone, FX, and original Illustrator. Forever grateful to Gerrit Hagen, Drew Page, Cristina Patterson, Melanie Eichner, Julie Rael, Silvina Knight, and Bob Smithson for being a part of the mayhem. Time to make another creature!

Bob Smithson, Alexandria Storm and 9 others 1 Share Like Comment Share

Other posts

PPI Premiere Products Inc. June 5

Come and get your @mouthfx tshirts at the PPI Booth! #mouthfx #ppibooth #ppi #skulshirt #nefxdan #specialeffectsmakeup

Kevin Haney, Dan Gilbert and 10 others Like Comment Share

PPI Premiere Products Inc. is at MONSTERPALOOZA. June 5 - Burbank

Things were burning up at the PPI Booth on Friday! Thanks to @michaelspatola and his model @jojo.zhu.737 Thanks for being a part of our booth! Repost@michaelspatola Burn makeup demo at the Premiere Products Booth painted with @skinillustratorofficial paints @ppipremiereproducts at @monsterpaloozaofficial on @jojo.zhu.737 on Friday night. #monsterpalooza #ppipremiereproducts #ppiproducts #burnmakeup #sfxmakeup #skinillustrator #specialeffectsmakeup 33 5 Comments 6 Shares Like Comment Share Most relevant Write a comment... Mary T Albright Disgustingly awesome... You're looking good too!

PPI Premiere Products Inc. is at MONSTERPALOOZA. June 5 - Burbank

A fun colorfully vibrant take on The Exorcist makeup. Dan used his new @mouthfx intense color kit. Thanks @nefxdan and model @misspaulinaplum! Repost- @nefxdan Pro Shots coming soon, but here are a few phone shots of my @monsterpaloozaofficial demo on @misspaulinaplum for @ppipremiereproducts and @mouthfx using @rbfx @eyeinkfx @skinillustratorofficial @mouthfx. I wanted to show off the new Mouth FX Intensity Kit 1 and do Regan in the style of @basilgogos RIP.

Dan Gilbert, Michael Spatola and 16 others 2 Shares Like Comment Share Write a comment...

